G-TALKS

(SEASON 3)

THEME

The Ripple Effect

Everything you do, say, and think is a part of the whole and in some way affects everyone and everything else. Just like how a drop of water creates ripples, every decision, even those that last a few seconds will originate an impact on the future. We can never certainly know or understand the impact we have on others, our actions create ripples across the universe. The results of these ripples may be instantly visible, delayed, or completely unknown to us, yet they have an impact.

The ripple effect is also about emotional contagion in groups. People use emotions as social informational signs and these emotions pass on from one person to another. Negative energy has a similar effect on us as positive energy, so it's crucial to be surrounded by the people who spread positivity.

Likewise, a trivial decision could unexpectedly change a person's life, be it positively or negatively. It's about how few of these decisions have had an impact on who they are today.

The idea that everything has a purpose changes how you live. To believe that every word you say, every action you do has an impact on yourself, other people, and the world. To say that all things are interconnected would be an understatement.

Summary of the Event

The event consisted of 4 speakers and 2 performances, The following are the sequence of speakers and performances :

The event started at 10:00 am on the 27th November when the hosting team addressed the crowd by introducing the college, G-talks, TEDxGRIET and our theme "The Ripple Effect".

They then went on to introduce our first speaker and the Talk continued till 10:20 AM.

1) Ms. Deepa ,Director GLWEC.

Ms. Deepa believes in the quote “ Dreams do come true”.

She talked about how one doesn't have to seek validation to pursue something that makes one happy.

This ideology led her to start teaching, leaving her then career as a software engineer at Infosys. She says teaching is what makes her happy, giving her everything to each and every student she has grown into a Director of KMIT and now the Director of Gokaraju Lailavati Women's Engineering College. She concluded her speech by saying it's important to believe in yourself and how that can create amazing ripples in one's life.

Moving forward with a power packed motivation through the first talk in G-Talks Season 3

The second speaker Ms. Bhavana , Senior Analyst at Accenture took up the stage for the next talk which went on till 10:40 AM.

2) Ms. Bhavana, Senior Analyst at Accenture

Ms. Bhavana who is a Senior Analyst at Accenture believes in finding her interests. She spoke to the students about the opportunities in college and her interest in the field of robotics. She shared her journey from doing science experiments in school to building AI robots. She even shared her experience about getting an internship in ISRO and DRDO. Her speech gave the audience insights about the emerging field of Robotics and the opportunities the young minds have in the upcoming days.

After the second talk there was a refreshment Break given for the attendees and the speakers till 11:20AM.

In the refreshment break students were provided by juice and the speakers and faculty were provided with samosa, Tea and juice.
